

POWDER TRAIN

Catches Fire and Explodes at Butte, Mont.

Seventy-Five People Reported Killed, and Many Others Maimed.

There Were Three Explosions, the First Drawing a Large Crowd. At the Second and Third Men and Women Were Mowed Down Like Grass.

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 16.—During a fire at the Montana Central railway yards Tuesday evening several cars of powder caught fire and exploded with tremendous force, killing seventy-five men, and maiming many others.

There were three separate explosions, the first breaking every window in a radius of two miles. The fire attracted a large crowd, and hundreds were standing near when the first explosion occurred. Men and women were mowed down by the blast on the right side, but many more are stunned by the force of the terrific explosion.

The debris from the cars and adjoining buildings was scattered high in the air and for half a mile away, many of the flying articles striking people in the crowd. Every ambulance and private vehicle and doctor in the town was soon on the scene and carrying off the maimed and wounded. The second explosion was a field of battle with the injured and dead.

Swing to the fact that there were still several cars of powder on the track, and the report that one of the warehouses also contained a quantity of powder, fear dashed after the first explosion to venture to the assistance of the injured, and when they did they were met by the second explosion like a mowing machine.

The Tennessee House Adopts the Senate Resolution to Investigate the Recent Subversive Activities.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 16.—The democratic house of representatives Tuesday adopted a resolution, which has for its object an investigation of the recent gubernatorial election.

Nothing now remains to complete the existing one of Henry Clay Evans but the passage of a contest bill, which has already been introduced and is in the hands of the committee.

That a majority of the committee appointed to make the investigations will be composed of the bitter democratic partisans, who have henceforth expressed themselves in debate as a foregone conclusion, and that their investigation will be in keeping with their previous official attitude is undisputed by the most loyal democrats.

Gov. Turner's term of office expired at noon Tuesday, and he was expected to assume the responsibilities bestowed upon him by the face of the returns, but he remained silent upon the urgent advice of his friends, who claimed that such action would place him in the same attitude as Kolb, of Alabama.

The committee on investigation will be appointed as soon as the contest bill can be rushed through both houses and receive the signature of the governor.

The republicans filed a lengthy protest against the resolution providing for a contest, and the matter was spread upon the minutes and that is likely the last that will ever be heard of it.

OTTAWA, Ill., Jan. 16.—The supreme court Tuesday morning practically killed the Chicago Mill Shipper's association, or trust, in a decision declaring Charles Ford, against whom the trust had an account of $400 for mill, exempt from payment on the ground that the association is an illegal organization. This means that it can not lawfully collect any bill.

Her husband, holding her in his arms, leaped for the window, and made a frantic dash for the ladder.

TO SUPPRESS ROBY.

Anti-Racing Bills Being Passed by House Legislature.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 16.—The bills to suppress Roby, it is said on good authority, will be introduced in the legislature in a few days. The bills will be substantially those prepared by Judge Gillett of Valparaiso, and were introduced by Gov. Matthews. Winter horse racing, pool selling on all other races than those run at the track where the pools are sold, and prize fighting will be prohibited. Although a strong lobby will be here, the bills will probably be passed. At present there are no state regulations of horse racing in Indiana, except prohibiting racing in towns and upon highways. There is a law, however, which forbids all kinds of betting and pool selling on all elections and racing. It provides fines and imprisonment. It is a dead letter.

PERIER QUILTS.

The French President Hands in His Resignation.

Election of a New Executive to Take Place at Versailles Thursday.

The Chief of State Found Himself Powerless Under Existing Law to Defend Himself Against the Attacks of His Enemies.

PARIS, June 16.—The plots of French socialists and radicals have succeeded all too well. Casimir-Perier has resigned the presidency of the republic, and the National assembly has been summoned to meet at Versailles Thursday for choice of his successor. The president's decision was reached late Tuesday evening after consultation with Challeme-Lacour, president of the senate, and was made known in a brief official note just before midnight. The result is given in a single laconic sentence, saying that the chief of state finds himself powerless under existing law, to defend himself against the outrageous attacks of his enemies. Casimir-Perier's friends, as well as all well-wishers of France, were astonished and appalled by his action. The question which they had been considering, as I have indicated several times in these dispatches, was whether the president would have sufficient courage to meet the triumph of his enemies in the lower house by dissolving the chamber, and an appeal to the country. No serious criticism would have been made if, considering the nature of the assault upon him, he had refused to follow the dictum of the chamber to the extent of appointing a radical ministry, but nobody expected him to gratify his enemies at the present stage of the campaign by resigning. Casimir-Perier accepted his present post with the greatest unwillingness. His enemies knew this well, and they aimed from the first to harass and persecute him into resigning.

It is not a high tribute to his patriotism that they have succeeded so easily. He leaves France in greater peril than those from which he rescued her seven months ago. The situation is very grave; worse, by far, than in the hours which followed Carnot's death. Then the elements which were bent for a moment triumphant were held in abhorrence by a majority of the people.

It is impossible to forecast the action of the Versailles congress. Both houses met Tuesday afternoon to receive the presidential message. Not even the enemies of Casimir-Perier were prepared for the present situation, but they will probably put forward Brisson as their candidate, and may possibly be able to elect him. There will be deeper and darker plotting than there has in the past few hours, and it is impossible to deny that dangers impend as great as any which France has faced since the empire.

The president's resignation had over two hours' conference with President Perier Tuesday. Challeme-Lacour argued that only two political actions were before him: either a radical cabinet with Brisson in it, or a cabinet of resistance, having the senate as a back support, with a dissolution of the chamber if necessary. Challeme-Lacour and Perier both opposed Leon Bourgeois premier.

When at 8 the news came that Brisson, who, as president of the chamber, ought to have been called to the Elysee, had been summoned by the president, there were many different current opinions, some believing that Perier had slighted Brisson. Others strongly believed that a dissolution was certain, with Perier appealing to the country against radical socialism. No body ever dreamed of the present complication. The situation is most serious. Brisson appears the most probable president.

News of Perier's resignation caused a deep sensation in the provinces. At Bordeaux great crowds assembled before the prefecture, the majority believing the news was a hoax. When official confirmation arrived it caused absolute consternation. Lyons was quite taken by surprise. At Marseilles, Maceo and Dijon the prefectures were absolutely besieged in search of information.

Other complications of French troubles occurred Tuesday at Roanne, where the miners are on strike. Carnaud, a socialist deputy from Marseilles, who headed a workmen's demonstration, was arrested charged with insulting a subprefect.

A Governor Who Can Neither Read nor Write.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 16.—Delaware inaugurated a governor Tuesday who can neither read nor write. For the first time in the history of the state there was no inaugural address, and this set the people to inquiring. Joshua S. Smith, was the republican candidate, last fall, and was elected. He is a business man of good repute, and worth at least $10,000, who made his way by hard and shrewd investment. Marvel can not sign his name. Knowing his weakness he secured the services of N. P. Smith, a leading lawyer, as secretary of state, and Smithers will virtually be the governor.

Discouraged People Bothered.

QUINCY, Ill., Jan. 16.—The hearing court Tuesday granted a remand in the case involving the rights of probate judges to grant divorces. The case was decided adversely to the judges last summer, rendering invalid over a thousand divorces, and placing many of the parties in queer complications. A large fund has been raised to fight the case by the many interested parties, and the attorneys in the west will participate.
